DELEGATE SAMPLE BOOKLET

Sample speeches

Sample 1: Opening speech

Honourable Chair, distinguished delegates,

The delegation of [Country] recognizes the importance of addressing [Topic]. We believe that international cooperation, practical policies, and sustainable solutions are essential to tackling this challenge.

Our delegation encourages all member states to work together, respect differing national priorities, and develop an effective resolution.

Thank you.

Sample 2: Strong, persuasive speech

Honourable Chair, esteemed delegates,

The delegation of [Country] believes that [Topic] requires immediate and coordinated action. While existing efforts have made progress, significant challenges remain, particularly in [specific area].

We propose strengthening international cooperation, improving access to resources, and establishing measurable targets to evaluate progress.

We urge delegates to move beyond discussion and focus on realistic solutions that create meaningful change.

Thank you.

Sample 3: Proposing a solution

Honourable Chair, fellow delegates,

Our delegation believes that addressing [Topic] requires more than awareness; it requires action.

We propose [specific solution], supported by [funding or resources] and implemented through cooperation between [relevant actors].

We believe this approach can help address the issue while considering the different capacities of member states.

Thank you.

Sample 4: Supporting another delegate

Honourable Chair,

The delegation of [Country] supports the proposal presented by the distinguished delegate of [Country]. We believe that this approach offers a constructive way forward, particularly in addressing [specific issue].

We would also recommend strengthening the proposal through clear implementation guidelines and regular progress reviews.

Thank you.

Sample 5: Disagreeing diplomatically

Honourable Chair, distinguished delegates,

While we appreciate the intentions behind the proposal presented by the distinguished delegate, our delegation has concerns regarding its feasibility and implementation.

We believe that an alternative approach, involving [alternative solution], would be more practical and inclusive.

We encourage the committee to consider this alternative and work towards a mutually beneficial resolution.

Thank you.

Sample 6: Closing speech

Honourable Chair, distinguished delegates,

Throughout this committee, we have explored different perspectives and potential solutions to [Topic].

The delegation of [Country] believes that meaningful progress requires cooperation, compromise, and a commitment to implementation.

We encourage all delegates to support practical measures that address the issue and create lasting change.

Thank you.

- “How would this proposal accommodate countries with different capacities?”
- “Could the delegate explain how this measure would be sustained in the long term?”

Sample rebuttals

When a proposal is too expensive

“We recognize the financial concerns raised by the delegate. However, a phased approach and shared funding mechanisms could reduce the immediate burden while allowing countries to work towards the same objective.”

When a proposal lacks evidence

“We agree that evidence is essential. We recommend including measurable indicators and regular reviews to evaluate the proposal's effectiveness.”

When a proposal is unrealistic

“We appreciate the intention behind this proposal. However, we have concerns regarding its feasibility. We suggest beginning with a pilot programme and expanding it based on the results.”

When a delegate challenges your country's position

“Our delegation acknowledges the concerns raised. However, our position reflects our national priorities and circumstances. We remain open to constructive dialogue and mutually beneficial solutions.”

When another delegate repeats an argument

“We appreciate the delegate's perspective. However, we believe the committee must also consider [alternative concern], which remains essential to developing a comprehensive solution.”

When you need to defend your proposal

"Our proposal aims to address the underlying causes of the issue rather than only its immediate effects. We believe that combining practical implementation with regular evaluation would improve its effectiveness."

Sample negotiation and alliance-building phrases

Approaching another delegation

"Hello, the delegation of [Country] is exploring solutions to [Topic]. We believe our countries may share an interest in [priority]. Would your delegation be open to discussing possible collaboration?"

Finding common ground

- "What are your delegation's main priorities on this issue?"
- "Which parts of our proposals could we combine?"
- "Could we identify the objectives our countries share?"
- "Would your delegation consider a compromise on this clause?"
- "How can we address both our concerns in one proposal?"

During an unmoderated caucus

- "Would you like to collaborate on a working paper?"
- "Which clauses do you believe should be prioritized?"
- "Could we assign different delegates to draft specific sections?"
- "Would your delegation be willing to review this proposal?"
- "What changes would make this clause acceptable to your delegation?"

When negotiating a compromise

- "While our delegations may disagree on the method, we appear to share the same objective. Could we consider a phased approach that addresses both concerns?"

When rejecting a proposal politely

- “We appreciate your delegation's suggestion. However, this provision may conflict with our priorities. We would be willing to explore an alternative that preserves the main objective.”

Sample resolution clauses

Preambulatory clause examples

- Recognizing the importance of international cooperation in addressing [Topic],
- Concerned by the impact of [specific problem] on vulnerable communities,
- Acknowledging the different capacities and circumstances of member states,
- Recalling relevant international agreements and previous initiatives, where applicable,
- Emphasizing the need for practical and sustainable solutions,

Operative clause examples

Sample answers to difficult questions

“Why should we support your proposal?”

“Our proposal offers a practical approach to addressing the issue through clear actions, cooperation, and measurable outcomes. We believe it can be adapted to different national circumstances while advancing our shared objectives.”

“How will you fund this?”

“We propose exploring national contributions, voluntary international funding, and partnerships with relevant organizations, depending on the programme's requirements and each country's capacity.”

“What makes your solution different?”

“Our approach focuses not only on identifying the problem but also on implementation, accountability, and long-term sustainability.”

“What if countries refuse to cooperate?”

“We believe that encouraging participation, providing technical assistance, and respecting national circumstances can improve cooperation. Regular reporting can also help identify challenges and encourage progress.”

“What if your proposal fails?”

“Our delegation believes that regular evaluation is essential. If the results indicate that the proposal is ineffective, the approach should be reviewed and adjusted based on evidence.”

“Why should other countries compromise?”

“Compromise allows delegations with different priorities to identify shared objectives and develop solutions that may be more widely supported and effective.”

Sample diplomatic responses

Situation	Sample response
You disagree	“Our delegation takes a different position on this matter.”
You need clarification	“Could the delegate elaborate on that point?”
